Introduction to the Liturgy of the Word The Most Holy Trinity

Last week we observed Trinity Sunday, Emphasizing the unity of the three persons of the Holy Trinity, we discussed how the Father, Son and Holy Spirit are three persons in one God. The three are in communion with one another, and desire to draw us into relationship and unity with God. In the Gospel reading today we hear about Jesus calling himself “the living bread that came down from heaven” and declaring “whoever eats this bread will live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh for life of the world.” This verse tells us about who Jesus is in the Eucharist and what the Eucharist means to our souls. In the Creed we say that Jesus Christ suffered, died and was buried, rose again on the third day, and he (later) ascended to heaven. We wait in joyful hope for Jesus to return again. When Jesus returned to the Father he didn’t leave us alone and without his presence. The Holy Spirit is sent to us to be our guide, and Christ left us his presence in the Eucharist. All around the world, Catholic parishes have the Eucharist, and Catholics everywhere receive Jesus Christ in the Eucharist. Sacraments give grace, and through this sacrament, Christ freely gives us himself—he gives us his body, blood, soul and divinity. The Eucharist isn’t a symbol of these gifts, it is through transubstantiation, Christ, present with us. When Christ is present with us, and we receive him in the Eucharist we receive grace. After the Liturgy of the Eucharist, when the Mass is ending, we are sent forth from Mass into the world. When we leave Mass it isn’t because the music stopped—it is because going to Mass and receiving Christ in the Eucharist strengthens us to do what Christ has asked us to do for others. All of the souls crave Jesus. As St. Augustine wrote, “Our hearts are restless until they rest in you (God).” Every single person who lives, who has lived, and who will live, has a heart rests in God. In short, humans are made to know God and his great love for us. When a heart is restless, the person may look to quell that restlessness with other things—distractions, music, new purchases or alcohol and drugs. When the heart has false love shown to it, the heart may be quiet for a time, but that restlessness wears on again, driving the person to find that which will settle the heart in love and peace. When the heart rests in God, true peace can reign in that heart. We are not made only for ourselves; indeed, no—we are made to live in communion with God and one another. When we eat the bread from heaven, we are drawn closer into relationship with our Lord. We are fed by his body and blood, and we are drawn closer to him. We, in turn, respond to Christ’s saving meal by responding to Christ’s call in the Gospel. The Catechism of the Catholic Church richly describes the Eucharist as “the sum and summary of our faith: Our way of thinking is attuned to the Eucharist, and the Eucharist in turn confirms our way of thinking.” Let the Eucharist form your thought, form your heart, and transform your life.
