Introduction to the Liturgy of the Word
Fourth Sunday of Lent

"It's a miracle!" We hear this in movies or television shows, maybe in a dramatic scene where a dying patient's cancer disappears, or maybe in a flippant tone in a comedy where the character just got something they really wanted. In this Gospel passage, Jesus heals a man who had been blind from birth. Jesus performs many miracles in the Gospels, and all of them are amazing. Miracles are a way to point toward the majesty and omnipotence of god and his divine intervention in the world. Miracles still happen today. Some might not be as dramatic as the story we hear today, while others are. Only God can perform miracles, and so when we hear stories of Jesus performing miracles, it asserts his divinity. Jesus is God, and therefore Jesus can perform incredible feats of healing. In this passage, Jesus makes a paste of clay with his own saliva. He then rubs it onto the man's eyes. After this encounter, Jesus instructs the man to wash in the Pool of Siloam. After washing his face and eyes, the man can see now. Can you imagine the joy in the man's heart? Being born blind, never being able to see a sunset, a bird flying through the air, the delicious meal set before him and now, he can see! What an incredible miracle! Not everyone agrees that is an incredible miracle. The religious leaders, the Pharisees, are incredibly upset that someone has healed on the sabbath. The sabbath is to remain holy, and so they feel a healing is not to take place on this day of rest. And, as is the case in so many other stories, Jesus does not go along with tradition, especially when it means that he will heal someone, care for someone on the margins, or show the true way to follow him. We are not to be caught up in the rules and regulations. In fact, Jesus models something that Pope Francis calls a "culture of encounter." Jesus literally gets his hands dirty in this encounter. He could of have healed the man from a distance; after all, he is God. However, he makes the clay and touches the man's eyes, those parts of him that are broken. Jus is a model of what it means to care for the least of our sisters and brothers. He shows the disciples that healing the man is of utmost importance. The man testifies to who heals him when confronted by the Pharisees. The Pharisees, however, are not moved by compassion for the man or for Jesus. They detest that the formerly blind man is trying to teach them about a prophet named Jesus. When thrown out of the temple, however, he is not deterred. He still believes that Jesus is the Son of Man.

Lenten Regulations

Abstinence from meat is observed on Ash Wednesday, Good Friday and all the Fridays of Lent by Catholics 14 years of age and older.
Fasting is observed on Ash Wednesday and Good Friday by all those between the ages of 18 and 59. Those bound by this rule may take only one full meal, with two smaller meals permitted. Eating between meals is not permitted.

Stewardship Thought

"Not as man sees does God see, because man sees the appearance but the Lord looks into the heart."
1Samuel 16:7

How often do we invest our time, talent and treasure in creating an appearance that does not matter at all to God? We strive to impress with our clothing, home, career, possessions, car and other marks of distinction. But none of these illusions of greatness will impress God. Instead, He will look into our hearts to see how much we loved Him, how much we loved others and how we showed that love by the way we used our time, talent and treasure here on earth.

Special Thanks to Our Electronic Givers

We would like to thank the many families who are currently giving electronically. You may not see these fellow parishioners place an envelope in the basket every week, but their consistent giving does not go unnoticed in our parish office. Each month our parish receives a steady and predictable stream of income from those donors who have made the commitment to give to God first by having a designated contribution automatically transferred to our parish through our Online Giving Program. If you would like to learn more about this easy, safe and secure way of giving, please contact the Parish Office or check out our website and click on the DONATE button. You will be guided through making your weekly donations online.

Thank you! Thank You! Thank You!
