Introduction to the Liturgy of the Word
Third Sunday of Easter

As two disciples are heading to the town of Emmaus from Jerusalem, they meet a stranger. As they walk, they are talking about all of the incredible things that they witnessed in Jerusalem. The stranger begins to talk with them. The disciples begin to tell the stranger about what transpired in Jerusalem. They are animatedly telling the stranger, wondering whether he has heard the stories about Jesus' crucifixion and resurrection. In the 24/7 news cycle, some stories rise to the top and it seems like everyone is talking about them. A similar thing happens with events at home, in school, or in the community. When we encounter people, who haven't heard the news, we can hardly believe it and immediately start to share our take on it. In an interesting twist, Jesus, the one who "hadn't heard the news" is the one to give his take on what happened, explaining it to the disciples. They would have been familiar with the Scriptures Jesus was referencing, but he was opening their hearts to understand in it a new way in connection with his life, death, and resurrection, Jesus is sharing with them the story of salvation history, of which he is the culmination. They don't fully recognize him until he literally breaks bread with them. At Mass, we encounter Christ in the breaking of the bread, just like those disciples on the way to Emmaus: we encounter the real presence of Jesus in the Eucharist. The Church also teaches that Christ is present in the assembly, in the priest, and in the Word. The Eucharist stands out above all of these ways Christ is present, though, because it is food for our journey of discipleship, brings us into the Body of Christ, and strengthens us to be Christ for one another.

Stewardship Thought

"Did not our hearts burn within us while He talked to us on the road, while He opened to us the scriptures?"
LUKE 24:32

How often do you take the time to discern what Jesus is calling you to do with your life?
Are your prayers always petitions, asking Jesus to do things for you?
If so, that's a one-sided relationship.
Living our faith means developing a personal relationship with Jesus.
Just like any friendship, there is give and take, each side listening to each other and helping each other out.
Take time, in silence, to listen to what Jesus is asking of you today.
