Introduction to the Liturgy of the Word
Fifth Sunday of Easter

Today's Gospel reading comes from teachings that Jesus offers his disciples during the Last Supper. Though he has not been crucified and raised yet, these words surely comforted them as they went through that experience. Think about all they had been through during Jesus' crucifixion. Consider how a few weeks ago, we read about them being locked in the upper room, fearing for their lives. They feared for their lives because they were followers of Jesus, and they are concerned that the authorities will come after them as well as persecute them. In those times of fear, how comforting it would have been for them to recall these words of Jesus. Jesus' message of consolation is one that we also need to hear at times. We might be experiencing difficulties and struggles in our relationships with our parents, siblings, or friends. We might be worried and stressed with school and expectations placed on us. Whatever might be troubling your hearts today, Jesus speaks to you as well. Don't let the peace of your hearts be disturbed and know that your faith can be a comfort during difficult times. This comfort is not just mere words. Jesus clearly states that he "is the way and the truth and the life." Faith in Jesus, following Jesus' ways, is the way to God. Philip presses the question further, wondering how it is that they have seen God. Jesus connects the dots for him, and for us. If they believe in Jesus, they believe in God. If you see Jesus, then you will see the face of God. If they wonder who God is, if they want to catch a glimpse of God, they look no further than Jesus. Jesus is the Word of God, and Jesus' actions are God's actions in the world. While it is difficult for the disciples to grasp this truth, it is a necessary lesson that Jesus shares with them. It is in this lesson and this teaching that he helps to put their hearts further at ease. The early Christian communities built by the disciples demonstrate their continued faith in Jesus as the way. By spreading the faith to all people, they helped others to find that path and walk along it. Jesus offers his words of wisdom as a way to strengthen the disciples for their future mission, when he is no longer with them. He offers the same to us.

Stewardship Thought

"The stone which the builders rejected has become the cornerstone." 1 PETER 2:7

Every person has been given gifts from the Holy Spirit. These are called "charisms" and they are used to build God's kingdom of earth. While many people are able to recognize their natural talents and abilities, they may be unsure of their charisms. If you know someone who is struggling for a direction in life, give them a little encouragement. Help them discern their charisms and how God is calling them to use them. Remember - no gift is too small or insignificant in God's salvation plan.
