Introduction to the Liturgy of the Word
Twenty-Seventh Sunday In Ordinary Time

THE NUPTIAL MEANING

The Sacred Scriptures that we read and hear this Sunday are very timely. As most of us know, rugged individualism has become a hallmark of many people's lives. The desire for marriage and children is down dramatically among younger generations. A recent survey showed that among 20s something a full third do not have even one single close friend, another third one, and the rest two or more. Another study showed that fully 2/3 of Americans say that have not spoken with their next-door neighbors in three months. This growing attitude that focuses on the self goes against both our Christian and our human nature. We are made for communion with one another and we find that imaged in the union of the three Persons of the Trinity. God Himself is a communion of Persons.

In the first reading today from the Book of Genesis, from the very beginning of divine revelation, God makes known to us our nature when He says, "If is not good for the man to be alone." This begins our awareness of the nuptial (marital) meaning of all Christian and human life. We are meant to "become one."

This is vividly carried out in married life in the union of two bodies becoming one flesh. Yet if we look carefully – and understand Catholic theology – every relationship done in accordance with God's law is an imaging of this nuptial meaning of the human person. In the Old Testament period God espouses Himself to His people Israel. In the New Testament period Jesus espouses Himself to His bride, the Church. Priests, through the promise of celibacy and chastity, are espoused to the Church as is Christ. Religious Sisters and nuns are traditionally referred to as 'brides of Christ'. In Christian friendship friends can be said to espoused to one another through the sharing of the virtues of faith, hope, and charity, and a shared desire to live the truth. The nuptial meaning of the human person is therefore found wherever two or three are gathered in the name of the Lord as Jesus Himself tells us.

There are a great many people, including Christians, who do not understand or appreciate this reality. As one former governor stated referring to his own denomination and others, "they treat marriage like a revolving door." The renowned theologian Dr. Scott Hahn, once commented that for all intents and purposes Protestantism is polygamist in its approach to marriage. As he put it, "You can have as many spouses as you want but just one at a time." All of this undermines the call to communion that God has called us to, a communion that is in our very God-given nature. As we see married life suffering we also see the gravity of breaches of commitments to celibacy or to friendship. All of this causes disruption and wounds us at our core. For this reason, the Church holds up the inestimable value of marriage and of all human relationships.

At the same time, we all deal with the effects of original sin. From the time of Adam and Eve's rebellion we have seen the breaches of relationships. Adam and Eve rebel against God, Cain rebels against Abel, nations rebel against nations. This brokenness since the Fall affects everyone without exception. This is why our Lord would say to "forgive not seven times but seventy times seven times." He knows our human nature, its glorious and its inglorious sides. While the Church, in fidelity to God, continues to call us to strengthen the bonds of communion it also recognizes that our broken humanity can mislead us. The Church then, also in fidelity to God, calls us to strengthen our trust in God's mercy and His always holding out to us new possibilities, new beginnings, new pathways to find the joy of life in communion with Him and with one another.

Q. What do the contributions from the Annual Catholic Appeal support?

A. Simply, PEOPLE. Our greatest challenge as Catholics is to play our part in loving and serving our neighbor. So many of our brothers and sisters are in need, and we are blessed when we freely share our gifts with others through God's Love, Mercy and Joy. It is the 2024 Annual Catholic Appeal which supports the daily work of our Church throughout Brooklyn and Queens in ways no one parish can accomplish alone. So, we are asking each family to consider making a gift today if you have not already done so to help us meet our parish goal. It is our hope for this appeal to receive a prayerful gift, no matter the amount, from every family. We have 1,000 registered families in our parish, imagine if each family gave something – you alone know what you can do.
Thank you for your support!

Stewardship Thought

"So out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field and every bird of the air and brought them to the man to see what he would call them; and whatever the man called every living creature, that was its name." (GENESIS 2:19)

The creation story reminds us of two important points. First, since the start, God has put the entire world into our care. Second, stewardship has been around since the beginning of mankind, it isn't something recently invented by the Church. Just as past generations built our Church, it is now our responsibility to continue to nurture and develop these gifts for future generations.

St. Bernard Sports Program is excited to announce that their premier Co-ed basketball experience is back for another thrilling season. Grades 2-5 play on Saturdays and Grades 6-8 play on Tuesday evenings. Our clinic for grades pre-k, k and 1st grade remain instructional only and no games are played. Registration is open! OCIA
Order of Christian Initiation for Adults

Order of Christian Initiation of Adults

The Order of Christian Initiation of Adults (O.C.I.A.) is a process by which a person prepares to become a member of the Roman Catholic Church. OCIA welcomes the unbaptized as well as those baptized in other Christian traditions. OCIA also welcomes those who have been baptized Catholic but who have not completed their sacraments of Eucharist or Confirmation.

Anyone who is interested in participating in this program is asked to call the Rectory now and speak to Deacon Frank.
