Introduction to the Liturgy of the Word
Fifth Sunday of Lent

YOU WILL SEE THE GLORY OF GOD

Throughout Sacred Scripture God makes many promises to His people. The promise we hear in this Sunday's Gospel from St. John is a summary of all the other promises, "You will see the glory of God." Whether we are talking about the covenants, the forgiveness of sins, the teachings of the various parables, the Beatitudes and the Commandments, and virtually everything else our Lord has taught us, it is geared towards one purpose: that we may see the glory of God. In the first reading from the prophet Ezekiel we are reminded that the dead do not and cannot see the glory of God. Only the living can. Thereupon our Lord makes the promise, "I will open your graves and have you rise from them." To Lazarus, Jesus declares at the tomb, "Come out". What then prevents us from seeing the glory of God which we can glimpse as in a mirror in this life and how can we conversely see that glory even in this world shrouded in darkness and sin? The answer to the first question is found in Jesus' statement to the crowds who witnessed Lazarus' rising from the dead: "untie him and let him go." In other words, untie him from the shackles of death and let him go to the new life that is now his. How many there are who are shackled not in physical tombs but in tombs of sin and despair, selfishness and greed, sensuality and unforgiveness, doubt and anger, confusion and shame. These shackles can only be broken by the One who also calls us out of the tomb as He did Lazarus. Two things are necessary for this to happen. The most obvious is that we have to want to rise from our tombs that block out the light of God's love and mercy. At the same time, we must like Martha, intercede for those in their tombs that God's grace may touch them and bring them to a conversion of life and conscience, that they too may go on to a new life in Christ. As mentioned above we can "see the glory of God" even in this life, but as in a mirror. Only in the next will we see clearly for in this life "we walk by faith and not by sight." Yet it is true that some mirrors are cleaner or dirtier than others. We can see our reflection best in a clean mirror free of dirt and dust and whose surface is bright. Otherwise, our vision is limited. The same is true for us. If our souls are corrupted by sin, it is difficult to see the glory of God through the eyes of faith. Conversely, to the extent that our souls are purified of the dirt of sin, the clearer we can see through ever-increasing faith, hope, and charity. In the midst of Lazarus' death, we find Martha torn between believing and being perplexed. She is confused as to why the Lord was not there during Lazarus' illness; yet she also believes he will rise. Jesus goes on to remind Martha of who He is: "I am the Resurrection and the life." He follows this with one of the most – if not the most important - question He can ask her and us. "Do you believe this?" Do you believe, Jesus is saying, that I can bring Lazarus from the tomb of death? Do you believe that I can forgive sin which is the cause of all death? Do you believe I can bring Lazarus to a new life? Jesus raises those same questions to us. Do we believe that our Lord can raise us from our tombs, whatever they may be? Do we believe that He can and will forgive our sins if we are sorrowful? Do we believe that He can give us a new life that is even eternal? Martha pondered on all that Jesus taught her and all that he did. Throughout her years with Jesus, she not only heard but listened. She then was well prepared to give the answer: "Yes, Lord, I have come to believe that you are the Christ, the Son of God." If we can answer the same, we are well on the way to the new life that we are preparing to celebrate on Easter morning when we too will "see the glory of God" in Christ raised from the dead.

Stewardship Thought

"…For his sake I have accepted the loss of all things and I consider them so much rubbish, that I may gain Christ… " (PHILIPPIANS 3:8)

The first commandment says that we should not put other gods before the Lord. Sharing all of our gifts - our time in prayer, our talent in charitable works, and our treasure to support the Church helps us keep God first in everything. It helps us from putting other gods before God. It helps us from becoming a slave to our possessions. It helps us to use our gifts for the glory of God and not for the glory of ourselves.
