Introduction to the Liturgy of the Word
Third Sunday of Easter

DO YOU LOVE ME?

It is interesting to note that while we hear songs about love, read novels about love, see movies about love, and sometimes talk incessantly about love, a great many people do not experience love in any real or meaningful way. It is the key reason why so many people, especially young people, find themselves lonely and feeling isolated. Much of this stems from a misunderstanding of the nature of love. When love is reduced to a feeling or emotion rather than a choice, it becomes difficult to maintain as feelings and emotions ebb and flow in all of our lives. At the same time, many see love as what can be received for the self rather than what can be given to the other. A great many couples live together before marriage to basically try each other out, to see if they please each other. It is much like trying on shoes at a store. If it fits, we buy it. If not, we don't. If we tire of the shoe after a while, we get rid of it or keep it while enjoying another pair too. How many girls and young women have learned the hard way that a boy or young man will pronounce "I love you" only to be abandoned as soon as the girl says 'no'. I love you for me not for you is the anthem. Today's Sacred Scriptures speak of love as God intends it to be, in other words in its truest form. In the first reading from the Acts of the Apostles we see all love as rooted in God when St. Peter says, "we must obey God rather than men." In this statement Peter is acknowledging that without fidelity to God, who as St. John tells us is love, we cannot hope to love others well. If a river is cut off from its source it will eventually dry up. So too, if our love is cut off from the One who is love, our love in its fullness will also dry up. In the responsorial psalm we hear reclaimed, "I will praise you Lord for you have rescued me." Here we see love as gratitude. We are, or at least should be, grateful to God for saving us from sin and death in Christ. We likewise should be grateful to those in our lives who have done much good for us. Gratitude is very much at the heart of love. In the second reading from the Book of Revelation we hear of the heavenly hosts falling down and worshipping God. While we do not worship anyone other than God, it points out that we should reverence each man, woman, and child as a re-presentation of the One God who dwells Father, Son, and Holy Spirit within us. This reverence is the antidote to using people for our own good pleasure. In the Gospel from St. John our Lord tells Peter, after he has denied Jesus three times, "feed my sheep." In choosing Peter to lead the Church in love, our Lord is doing two things that are at the heart of love. First, He is overlooking and forgiving Peter's transgression and denial. It is mercy and forgiveness at the heart of love as is gratitude. Second, Peter is commissioned to bring the Good News of our salvation to others. The love and mercy He experienced, the truth that Jesus Christ is Lord, must be shared with others in love. It is charity at the heart of love. If we live this way of love, God's way of love, there would be no more isolation or loneliness. It is this self-donating love, this self-gift, that brings us true joy and a peace this world cannot give nor take away. It is a love rooted in the One who is love, a love that enriches our lives' journeys, a love that conquers sin and even death itself.

Stewardship Thought

"…Peter was distressed that Jesus had said to him a third time, 'Do you love me?' and he said to him, 'Lord, you know everything; you know that I love you.' Jesus said to him, 'Feed my sheep.'" (JOHN 21:17)

How often do you actually say the words "I love you" to Jesus, to family members, or to friends? We are made to be in relationship with God and each other. Sincerely telling someone that you love them is the best gift you can give them because it comes from your heart. You are giving them the gift of yourself. We all crave love. Tell someone you love them every day.

For the Military

If you would like to add a loved one that is in active duty in the military, please call the rectory with their name and branch of service and we will add them to a list of military members to pray for. Thank you. Almighty & eternal God, protect these men & women as they discharge their duties. Protect them with the shield of your strength and keep them safe from all evil and harm. May the power of your love enable them to return home in safety, that with all who love them, they may ever praise you for your loving care.
We ask this through Christ our Lord, Amen.
