PLEASE TURN OFF ALL CELL PHONES WHILE IN CHURCH!

Introduction to the Liturgy of the Word
Twenty-Sixth Sunday of Ordinary Time

NEITHER WILL THEY BE PERSUADED

The ancient Chinese had a proverb that reminds us about how easily we can become rooted in vice. It is simple enough to understand. If there is a small weed rip it out before it grows bigger while it is still easy to do so; if it turns into a bush rip it out though now it is more difficult to uproot since it is more firmly in the ground; if it is allowed to grow into a tree it will be extremely difficult – if not impossible – to uproot as its roots have spread throughout the earth below it. This simple lesson is a reminder of how important it is to root out venial sins and bad habits before they come to define our character. It is also why the Church encourages frequent Confession so that our consciences are kept alert before they become dulled by our self-deceptions. There is also another well-known proverb attributed to the Chinese philosopher Lao Tzu. "Watch your thoughts, they become your words; watch your words, they become your actions; watch your actions they become your habits; watch your habits they become your character; watch your character, it becomes your destiny." These two proverbs very well fit into this Sunday's readings from Sacred Scripture. Both the first reading from Amos and the Gospel from St. Luke are noting how we can become so complacent, or desirous, of material wealth that we forget the plight of others. These people eat and drink well, live comfortably, and can easily become so self-absorbed as to think only of themselves. In the Gospel reading our Lord takes it a step further and warns that those who feed themselves will lose everything in the end. Notice in the Gospel reading that the rich man who is dining to his heart's content is not doing anything actively to the beggar Lazarus. His is not a sin of commission but one of omission. The beggar Lazarus is at the foot of the table but the rich man does not even notice him, let alone care for him. His self-interest if a such a level that his choice to be blind to others in their need has not taken such root that he is completely unaware of that blindness. That blindness to Lazarus' presence is the habit that Lao Tzu writes of. The rich man is habitually blind to others. His indifference becomes his character, and in his loss of heaven and his place in hell shows forth the character that determined his destiny. The Sacred Scriptures are quite easy as far as the teaching goes. It is much more challenging to allow those teachings to form our consciences. We can list any number of sins from greed to violence, from sexual sins to selfishness, from indifference to sloth, and so on. Whatever it may be, the Lord is calling us to be wise enough to uproot them as soon as we recognize them so that our destiny may not become enslavement to our sins and habits, our character not so distorted that it determines our destiny. Rather, and once again, our Lord is calling us to the radical freedom of the sons and daughters of God if we uproot the weeds before they become trees.
Fr. John Maduri

Order of Christian Initiation of Adults

The Order of Christian Initiation of Adults (O.C.I.A.) is a process by which a person prepares to become a member of the Roman Catholic Church. The process is one of inquiry, evangelization, prayer, study and conversion, leading to one's entrance into the church through Baptism, Confirmation and the Eucharist. OCIA welcomes the unbaptized as well as those baptized in other Christian traditions. OCIA also welcomes those who have been baptized Catholic but who have not completed their sacraments of Eucharist or Confirmation. Anyone who is interested in participating in this program is asked to call the Rectory now and speak to Deacon Frank.

A fiesta in the Parish Hall.

Stewardship Thought

"My child, remember that you received what was good during your lifetime while Lazarus likewise received what was bad; but now he is comforted here, whereas you are tormented. Moreover, between us and you a great chasm is established…" LUKE 16:25-26
When God created the world, He declared that it was good and He gave it to all mankind for us to enjoy. However, over the years we have created a chasm between those who have great gifts and those who do not. In today's Gospel we see that with our own generosity we must bridge that gap between those who have much and those who have little, or we may find ourselves on the wrong side of the chasm in the next life.
