Introduction to the Liturgy of the Word
Twenty-Seventh Sunday of Ordinary Time

OBLIGATION OR RESPONSIBILITY

The Sacred Scriptures today, particularly the Gospel, place a question before us. Do we live our lives simply fulfilling obligations or do we live our lives doing the responsible thing freely and lovingly because it is the correct thing to do? The same can be said of how we approach our living of the Faith. Do we approach God satisfying ourselves that we have done the minimum required by Church law or do we approach God freely and lovingly because God is worthy of our love and devotion? Obligation is cold and emotionally draining whereas doing the responsible or right thing is enriching because it is based on love and gratitude. We can imagine how a child would react if the parents said that the only reason they are feeding and clothing them is because they have to; otherwise, they would go to jail for breaking the laws on child endangerment. The child would be dejected feeling unloved and unwanted. Yet too oftentimes we approach our faith – and God Himself – with the same attitude of "I have to do this." We can do an examination of conscience here:

Do I participate in Mass because it is an obligation or do I participate in Mass because I love God and He is worthy of His due worship?

Do I pray because I was taught to offer my rote morning and evening prayers and leave it at that because everything else is more important; or do I consciously enter into relationship with God throughout the day?

Do I read the Bible because I feel obligated to pick it up once in a while or does the Bible transform my life, my choices, my decisions?

Do I do works of charity because I feel I have to or do I truly see the face of Christ in those in need and desire to love them as our Lord does?

Do I live my faith because that is how I was raised and this is what we do or do I live my faith as a gift given by God and nurtured daily in my life?

Do I satisfy myself with doing the bare minimum in my faith life or do I engage myself in learning the Faith more deeply so that I can live it more fully and bring it to others?

Do I call myself a Catholic Christian because I was raised this way or do I call myself a Catholic Christian because it is true and I seek the opportunities to learn the Faith more fully?

In today's Gospel our Lord is making it very clear that if all we do is "what is required" we are "unprofitable servants." More pointedly Jesus called the Pharisees hypocrites because they excelled at observing the law but that was as far as it went for most of them. As always, the Lord is inviting us to a new life. This new life is based not on obligation but on the freely chosen responsibility to love God and others, to be men and women with a Biblical world-view, to be faithful sons and daughters of the Church who are not satisfied with the minimum but rather seeks ways to grow in faith, hope, love, prayer, charity, justice, and truth. Our happiness in this life and the next depends on how we approach God and one another.

Order of Christian Initiation of Adults

The Order of Christian Initiation of Adults (O.C.I.A.) is a process by which a person prepares to become a member of the Roman Catholic Church. The process is one of inquiry, evangelization, prayer, study and conversion, leading to one's entrance into the church through Baptism, Confirmation and the Eucharist. OCIA welcomes the unbaptized as well as those baptized in other Christian traditions. OCIA also welcomes those who have been baptized Catholic but who have not completed their sacraments of Eucharist or Confirmation. Anyone who is interested in participating in this program is asked to call the Rectory now and speak to Deacon Frank.

Stewardship Thought

"For God did not give us a spirit of cowardice but rather of power and love and self-control."
2 Timothy 1:7

Many of us compartmentalize our Faith, we bring it out only when we attend Mass or when we attend a parish event. Being a good steward requires discipline and striving to put God first in everything - all the time. The next time you are at a neighborhood party or at work or out shopping, would your words and actions signal to others that you are a good and faithful servant of our Lord?

Active Parish Campaign Summary
