Introduction to the Liturgy of the Word
Twenty-Eighth Sunday of Ordinary Time

LEPROSY OF THE SOUL

As we know, leprosy was a highly feared and contagious disease for millennia. From ancient times to the days our Lord walked the earth and into the 20th century countless people suffered and died from leprosy. Its most frightening and noticeable sign was the disfigurement of the skin and face among other parts of the body. Thankfully by the 1940s treatments were found to slow its progression but it was until 1982 that a cure was finally discovered. It was a centuries-long process to get to the point of a cure but a cure there is; diagnosed and treated many lives are now saved. Let untreated it will still lead to disfigurement and eventual death. While our Lord was clearly concerned with physical disease and showed that concern by multiple cures including leprosy, He was much more concerned about the leprosy of the soul. He recognized, as we should, that our consciences can also become leprous, that they can also become disfigured and leave our souls in the state of spiritual and moral disease. We can look at more stark examples like Joseph Stalin or Adolph Hitler to see what a leprous soul turns into. Consciences deadened evil follows. Just like physical leprosy not only harms the individual but also harms anyone to whom the infected comes close to, so the leprosy of the soul will have a debilitating effect on others. There is much discussion about the decline of the moral fabric of our nation and Western society as a whole. This did not happen in a vacuum. For more than half a century we have, as a society, first rejected God (at least as the Reality that should form our lives and consciences) and then nature itself. This searing of the conscience, deadened by self-absorption, intellectual laziness, and political expediency, all point to the same place: a leprosy of the soul that has spread through generations. As mentioned already, a cure for leprosy was discovered in 1982. Many had to suffer and die before medical science reached that point. If a cure had been found millennia ago all of that suffering would have been alleviated. The same is true for the leprosy of the soul. A cure was found from the very beginning when God called us to covenant with Him. The cure was solidified in Jesus' preaching of the Gospel, His ministry of reconciliation, His death and Resurrection. Like those with physical leprosy it is necessary to want to be cured. If any of us met someone who had leprosy but did not want to be cured, we would be startled by that and rightly so. Why would someone stay ill and face potential death other than the fact that they refuse to acknowledge their illness? The same is true of leprosy of the soul. Yet there are countless people who refuse to recognize this spiritual and moral disease. Excuses are made to rationalize it. There is a problem beyond the individual. When an individual embraces the leprous soul, it affects everyone else. None of us lives in a vacuum. It is no different than physical leprosy except that it is more insidious. The leprosy of the body is noticeable early on while the leprosy of the soul builds slowly over time so that many do not even recognize it until consciences have died and entire societies are infected. If not treated in time we can find ourselves like a leprous society that the early Christians found themselves in. By every measure the Roman Empire started out as the envy of the world. It was rich, powerful and had a rule of law that was just and fair. In time it became corrupt (leprous in soul) led by many morally bankrupt Emperors until the Empire, even fully aware of the Person of Jesus Christ and the Gospel but its leadership largely rejecting it except for political expediency, fell under the weight of its own spiritual and moral leprosy. It died a slow death of growing weakness, laziness, moral turpitude, rationalization of its crimes against humanity, and a rejection of its own principles and ideals. Yet it did not have to be that way. The early Christians offered hope in Christ, freedom in truth, charity in justice. Every single person has the opportunity to come to a new life in Christ. As we see in the readings this Sunday our Lord's great desire is to heal us and bring us to "newness of life". Three things are necessary to complete this road to personal and societal renewal: first, to recognize we all need healing in one way or degree or another; second, to turn to the Lord who promises us forgiveness of sins and the new life of grace; third, to be thankful for the gift of new life that shines upon us even now as we make our way to the banquet feast of heaven.

Order of Christian Initiation of Adults

The Order of Christian Initiation of Adults (O.C.I.A.) is a process by which a person prepares to become a member of the Roman Catholic Church. The process is one of inquiry, evangelization, prayer, study and conversion, leading to one's entrance into the church through Baptism, Confirmation and the Eucharist. OCIA welcomes the unbaptized as well as those baptized in other Christian traditions. OCIA also welcomes those who have been baptized Catholic but who have not completed their sacraments of Eucharist or Confirmation. Anyone who is interested in participating in this program is asked to call the Rectory now and speak to Deacon Frank.

Stewardship Thought

"Has none but this foreigner returned to give thanks to God?" Luke 17:18

Most of us live relatively "easy" lives. We have food, shelter, clothing, and money. We go on vacation every year and own a car or two. Most of us take this all for granted. Did you ever notice that people with the least amount of possessions are usually the most grateful? Shouldn't this be the other way around? Take time every day and thank God for all He has given you and discern how He is calling you to share your gifts.
