Stewardship Thought

"Whoever exalts himself will be humbled; but whoever humbles himself will be exalted."
- MATTHEW 23:12

The world celebrates people in the spotlight and those who have the most of everything. We think celebrity, money and possessions are the key to happiness. Yet, our world is filled with more loneliness, anxiety, and depression than ever before. The lives of the saints show that the key to a happy life are relationships. Relationships with God and each other. Trust is the foundation of any good relationship and humility is the seed of trust.

A SINNER WHO KEEPS ON TRYING

Two Wednesdays back at our EDGE middle school ministry I asked the youth I had in my small group discussion for a definition of a saint. They all had good answers. I offered what I think is one of the best definitions I have heard: "a sinner who keeps on trying." As many have heard me say to them over my 39 years as a priest, the devil's greatest weapon against us is not our sins but rather discouragement. There are sins of weakness that people, including those who take their faith lives seriously, that can become discouraging for those who seem to be getting little traction trying to overcome them. I remember reading an article from a psychologist who noted that people are not as imprisoned in their human make up as psychology likes to think, but nor are we as free as religion likes to think. The reality is somewhere in the middle. Men and women, oftentimes from their youth, can find themselves adopting life choices, attitudes, and behaviors that are contrary to the Divine Law. Sometimes it can happen inadvertently due to immaturity or ignorance, other times through willfulness, and still other times through what they have been taught and experienced. No one is condemned to remain in these situations but nor can we pretend that breaking free of them is simple and easy. Some things become so ingrained in our psyche that it is a struggle to bring about change. Faith and religion, approached with confidence and trust and a sincere desire for repentance can bring about that change over time. Therefore, do not be discouraged. Try sincerely and without making excuses, but do not be discouraged. Our Lord did not say to forgive 7 times 70 times without awareness of the fallen human condition which He came to redeem. This is where the saints come in. Everyone one of them was a sinner, some even grave sinners. You name any sin and there are more than a few in the constellation of the saints who committed them. What separated them from others who remain in sin and its slavery and darkness, is that they came to a realization that they had been redeemed, that they could change by God's grace, that it would be at times a struggle but that if they entrusted their struggles to God who forgives 7 times 70 times they would come to victory – and they did, some at young ages and others much later on in life. The key things are that they believed, they trusted, and they relied on God's grace more than their own strength – and yes, they tried their hardest to respond to that grace and gift of redemption. Put succinctly, they lived lives of heroic virtue. They did not settle. Like an athlete who keeps his or her eyes on the prize, the saints keep their lives on the only prize that is worth it in the end – union with God and the joy that comes from this union. It is easy to get discouraged and to give up. Our society is filled with people stuck in the chains of sin and it's too oftentimes subsequent despair. Yet hope is always there, a hope that is born of faith in a God who desires what is best for us and who gives us the Sacred Scriptures and His Church to guide us into the freedom of the sons and daughters of God. We cannot be naïve, however. There are those who demand to live life on their own terms, who reject any adherence to the Divine Law. These people need our prayers, not our condemnation for what they think as freedom is really slavery. Their battle cry is "I will not serve" any God let alone His will, His Gospel or His Church. They reject the call to be saints which means they reject the call to authentic freedom. The saints, be they canonized officially by the Church, or those who walk among us doing as St. Theresa of Calcutta once said, "ordinary things with extraordinary love," continue to challenge and invite us to "taste and see the goodness of the Lord." If we are wise men and women, we will strive to do just that so that God's gifts of the peace and freedom this world cannot give nor take away will abide within us and shine through us so that all we encounter may know the goodness of the Lord.

Knights of Columbus®

St Bernards Council #14269

Like No other Council !!

We at the St Bernard Council host and participate in a multitude of events that make our council one of the leading councils in the Northeast, Such as our Annual Golf Outing held at a private golf course, Pastapalooza with food donated by some of the top restaurants in Brooklyn, the Annual Community Christmas Party our Sunday Sauce party, the Annual Super Bowl Party, we have our Communion Breakfast, not to mention our Annual Community BBQ & Blood Drive.

And that's just the beginning!

We are a council centered around promoting camaraderie, and we show that with our Knights Night Out which is our council coming together to break bread at a variety of local restaurants, especially those that support us. We also give back while having fun!
Future plans include pickleball and adult basketball just to name a few! Ideas are always welcome!

When you join our council, you don't have to participate in every event—but once you see all we do, you'll want to!

"Where There's A Need There's A Knight"

So, What Does All Our Hard Work Accomplish?

Since 2007, the St Bernards Knights of Columbus Council #14269 has been dedicated to supporting local charities, organizations, families and individuals in need. Through the dedication and commitment of our members and the generosity of our community, we have raised and donated well over $ 1.2 million to worthy causes Organizations & Charities.

Charities & Organizations We Support

Our support has included St. Bernard Church, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Maimonides Medical Center, Bridge to Life, Tunnel to Towers Foundation, Wounded Warriors project, Guild for Exceptional Children, local Schools through scholarship programs, local food pantries and local religious food banks and many other worthy organizations and causes.

We are especially proud of our annual Thanksgiving program. Through which we donate more than 200 turkeys and 20+ prepared meals to families and individuals in need during the holiday season.
We also support Toys for Tots and numerous other charitable programs throughout the year.
But being a Knight is about more than the events we hold or the money we raise. It's about the four principles that bind us together for life:

Charity / Unity / Fraternity / Patriotism
